ArtPrize is an international art competition held in Grand Rapids, Michigan.

The entire city of Grand Rapids becomes an art gallery when hundreds of thousands of people from all over the world converge to experience, explore, and actively participate in the radically open and independently organized international art competition. The city hums with creative energy for 19 days across three square miles of downtown.

It's unorthodox, highly disruptive, and undeniably intriguing to the art world and the public alike. Art from around the world pops up in every inch of downtown!

ArtPrize is unusual both for the large size of the top prize ($200,000, combined with other prizes cumulatively amounting to $560,000), as well as for the method of judging entries. Unlike traditionally, juried competitions, ArtPrize contestants are juried by the public using modern networking technology.

How you can vote:

The method of choosing the prize winner has been compared to American Idol. Voters must register in person within the three-square-mile ArtPrize district, either at a physical registration location, or using their a mobile application. Once registered, you may use the ArtPrize website, text messaging, or a mobile app to vote. For text message voting, each artist is assigned two 5-digit codes, one for a "thumbs up" vote and one for a "thumbs down" vote. Both of these codes are posted near every entry, with many artists incorporating them into their entries or promotional materials.
